A Flowering Shrub Border

As a frame is to a picture so is a border of Flowering Shrubberty to the greensward of the lawn.

A FLOWERING SHRUB BORDER can readily be arranged to provide your grounds with the privacy that comes from shutting out the "inlook" of neighbors and of passersby. If properly placed it will screen unpleasant views and make your outlook more enjoyable.

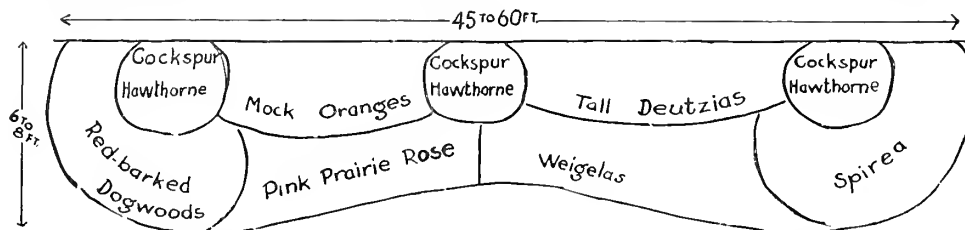

With the shade of a tree, a shrub border will transform your lawn into an outdoor living room,—a delightful, healthful spot for Summer recreation.

Flowering Shrubs for a border similar in effect to that pictured are here offered. You'll enjoy the individual plants as well as their effect in combination.

Easy and Effective Ways to Be

"Before and After"—showing the transformation wrought by the grouping of a few Evergreens about a house foundation.

Soft-Foliaged Harmonious Evergreens

A FOUNDATION PLANTING is one of the most important features in the production of a home-like looking house. It covers the bare foundation angles, hides the mud splashed walls and provides a connecting link between the house and the lawn about it. Evergreens are very popular for foundation plantings because they are immediately effective after planting, and are as beautiful in Winter as in Summer.

The assortment of popular Evergreens for foundation plantings here offered may be grouped in most any arrangement and can be effectively used, regardless of the style of architecture of your house. On the arrival of the plants set them on top of the ground and move them about until the arrangement best suited for your house foundation is decided upon.

utify Your House Foundation

Flowering Shrubs are less costly than Evergreens and frequently more desirable for built up portions of cities or for northern exposures.

Graceful, Verdant Flowering Shrubs

IN THE GRACEFUL arching branches of Flowering Shrubs, clothed with splendid foliage, and with blossoms in their season, lie part of the popularity of these plants for foundation planting.

Though they drop their leaves each Autumn, even their naked branches break the angular lines of the foundation walls. On some varieties the Autumn foliage takes on rich colors, and bright berries persist until the Spring—on all, the Winter snows cling to the branches and bedeck them in a coat of ermine.

The selection of varieties here made is designed to give you bloom at different times throughout the season and to provide an attractive combination in habit of growth, and effect of foliage and flowers.

The shrubs, being of a dwarf nature, will make an attractive foundation planting regardless of their arrangement.

Cultural Suggestions

For the best results, spade up the planting area deeply, working in a liberal quantity of well rotted manure or other fertilizer. Plant the Roses so that the enlarged portion of the stem is below the surface of the ground. Space the plants about 18 inches apart.

No pruning is usually required the first season. Subsequently, however, trimming down to 3 to 5 buds should be done in early Spring.

A dirt mound 6 inches high about each plant serves as excellent Winter protection especially when supplemented by a four-inch layer of light manure or straw as a mulch. This mounding of earth should be done in late Autumn, and the mulch applied after the ground freezes.

There is a place to order the Anniversary Rose offer on page 7.
